

Dhruv and Abhimanyu House staged their Annual House Function on 20.7.2016. The function was titled 'RAVANAM'. It began with 'Ram Stuti', the invocation of Lord Rama in the classical dance form. The thought provoking group song titled 'Bhagwan! Hai Kahan Re Tu!', attempted to trace the various manifestations of God in the present times of strife and disharmony. The song was followed by a dance performance which threw light on the journey of finding the Godly elements within us mortals. The play titled 'Ravanam', drove home the point that we will not find the almighty savior in any parts of the world. We need to introspect and analyze our own self and seek nobility which resides in each one of us. This is necessary to overcome the evil that ails the world today.

The school Director Shri R.C. Shekhar applauded the effort of the teachers and students and appreciated the relevance of the theme and its beautiful and meaningful execution.

The event was graced by the presence of eminent theatre personality Mrs. Savita Sharma Nagar, who is judging the series of House functions being presented by the students.
