

At Gyan Bharati School, Deepawali celebrations strongly communicated the message of observing a Safe and Green Diwali, enjoyed as it should be, as the festival of lights.

Students from P1 to SS2 made Rangoli at different spots in the school, setting the mood for festivities.

The special assemblies in the Primary and Senior section were marked by recitations, songs, talks and enactments on the theme. The school Director, Mr. R.C. Shekhar addressed the students elaborating upon the necessity for a pollution free Diwali and the concern for 'Tamso ma Jyotirgamaye' in its real sense.

Students staged a Nukkad naatak, advocating in a thought provoking yet humorous way, the slogan – "say no to crackers". To reach out to a larger audience not only did the students perform at the Senior and Primary Assemblies, but also at PVR Saket, at the Malviya Nagar Metro station and at the select city walk.

Children's voice of concern for the less privileged, for the environment, for the armed forces and for humanity found expression in the signature campaign and an essay and a slogan writing competitions.

On behalf of the Gyan Bharati family the senior students sent a card, a piece of self composed poetry and a message as a gesture of gratitude, to the Indian soldiers.
