

BVN and IAPT – ANVESHKA recently organized an essay writing competition in Delhi & NCR region. It invited budding science students to promote their learning of physics through many activities. Entries for essay writing competition were invited. The essay on (1) Radioactivity – Physics and its Application was assessed for the systematic expression of scientific ideas by the students.

Debaditya S. Jena of Gyan Bharati School secured the third position. His essay has been selected and sent for the national level competition. He wins a cash prize of Rs. 500/- which will be awarded at the same in the IAPT annual convention to be held in October 2016